Message from the Chairperson

2016-17 was a year of steady achievement for the Heritage Council. There were six additions to the NT Heritage Register, and there are now over 300 places and objects on the Register.

A new Government was elected in August 2016, and this brought some major changes to the machinery of Government. The Heritage Council now sits within the Department of Tourism and Culture, which has responsibility not just for Heritage Conservation, but also Tourism, Parks and Wildlife, and Arts and Museums.

I believe this to be a very positive development, and we have already witnessed some initiatives and synergies resultant from this re-structure. I am excited by how 'Heritage Tourism' can 'value-add' to a future Tourism marketing strategy for the Territory.

On behalf of the Council, I have been able to make some significant headway on a range of issues, including heritage trails and signage. I have successfully lobbied for additional resources to be directed to the Hermannsburg Historic Precinct (west of Alice Springs), and I continue to have a keen interest in what might be possible at Newcastle Waters.

The Council met in Alice Springs in September 2016, and enjoyed a visit to the Alcoota Fossil Beds, situated north-east of Alice Springs. This is truly a unique place with the potential for a significant well-managed future.

In June 2017, the Council travelled to Katherine and Timber Creek. It was a special privilege to meet Traditional Owners and other stakeholders in the region, and to visit the old Bullita Homestead and hear Council member Roger Steele talk of life there in the 1950s, when he worked there as a stockman.

I attended the annual meeting of the Heritage Chairs and Officials of Australia and New Zealand (HCOANZ) in Adelaide in May 2017. There was a great deal of stimulating discussion, and lots of opportunities to learn how things are done in other jurisdictions.

A visit to the historic copper mining town of Burra, in South Australia's mid north, which is associated with the 'foundation stone' of Heritage Planning, the 'Burra Charter', was indeed a significant journey.

On a sad note, in April 2017 we received the news that Dr Mickey Dewar had passed away. Mickey was a long-serving member of the former Heritage Advisory Council, and then the Heritage Council, until her retirement in May 2014. Mickey was a wonderful person who made an absolutely outstanding contribution to the conservation of the unique heritage of the Northern Territory, and she will be sorely missed.

MR WAYNE KRAFT

The object of the Heritage Act is to provide for the conservation of the Northern Territory's cultural and natural heritage.

The Act is broad in its scope. It automatically protects all Aboriginal and Macassan archaeological places and objects, and has the capacity to automatically protect other classes of places.

The Heritage Act commenced on 1 October 2012.

The functions of the Heritage Council are set out in Section 125 of the Act, and are:

- (c) To recommend to the Minister the revocation of the declaration for heritage places and objects;
- (d) To advise the Minister on the conservation, use and management of heritage places and objects;
- (e) To advise the Minister about the carrying out of work on a heritage place or object and to decide applications for work approvals other than applications for major work;

- (g) To facilitate public education and programs about the Territory's cultural and natural heritage;
- (h) To advise the Minister on financial incentives or concessions for heritage agreements (either in general or on particular agreements);
- (i) To advise the Minister on matters affecting the Territory's cultural and natural heritage;
- (j) To perform other functions conferred under this or another Act or as directed by the Minister.

Assessment and Declaration

Nominations

The heritage listing process starts with someone nominating a place or object for heritage listing.

The Council received a nomination for one place during the year, as follows:

- John Veal Electronic Distance Measurement Equipment (EDM) Baseline, Howard Springs Pine Forest

Council accepted this nomination.

Assessments

Once it has accepted a nomination, Council must apply the heritage assessment criteria set out in the Act, in order to determine whether the place is of heritage significance.

The heritage assessment criteria for a place or object are set out in section 11 of the Heritage Act, and are as follows:

- (a) Whether it is important to the course, or pattern, of the Territory's cultural or natural history;
- (b) Whether it possesses uncommon, rare or endangered aspects of the Territory's cultural or natural history.
- (c) Whether it has potential to yield information that will contribute to an understanding of the Territory's cultural or natural history;

Above: 12 Schultze Street Darwin

- (d) Whether it is important in demonstrating the principal characteristics of a class of cultural or natural places or environments;
- (e) Whether it is important in exhibiting particular aesthetic characteristics;
- (f) Whether it is important in demonstrating a high degree of creative or technical achievement during a particular period;
- (g) Whether it has a strong or special association with a particular community or cultural group for social, cultural or spiritual reasons, including the significance of a place to Aboriginal people as part of their continuing and developing cultural traditions;
- (h) Whether it has a special association with the life or works of a person, or group of persons, of importance in the Territory's history.

The Council assessed the significance of five places, as follows:

- Seven Mile Aerodrome
- 44 Smith Street Darwin
- Remains of Spitfire A58-2, located in Litchfield National Park
- John Veal Electronic Distance Measurement Baseline
- Chan Building, Darwin

On 10 February 2017, after the Council had considered an assessment report in relation to the wreck of RAAF Spitfire A58-2, it requested a further report on whether this wreck site, along with other World War II wreck sites, should be permanently protected by assessing aircraft wreck sites as a class of place.

On 1 June 2017, the Council considered an assessment report in relation to historic aircraft wreck sites in the Northern Territory, and resolved to request more information.

Declared heritage places and objects

Once Council has completed the assessment process, it has to decide whether or not the place or object is significant.

If so, then the Council invites submissions as to whether the place or object should be permanently declared as a heritage place or heritage object.

After considering all the submissions made, the Council is then required to make a recommendation to the Minister. The Minister has the final decision as to whether a place or object is permanently declared as a heritage place or object.

In 2016-17, four places were permanently declared as heritage places, and two objects as heritage objects:

- Raggatt's Structure
- Diesel Locomotive NSU63 (object)
- 12 Schultze Street Darwin
- Chain Calibration Site, Alice Springs
- Ross Smith Memorial
- Mitsubishi A6M2b Zero BII-124 (object)

Above: Diesel Locomotive NSU63 (object)

Refusals

In 2016-17, the Minister refused to declare one place as a heritage place, the WWII Steam Locomotive Servicing Facility at Adelaide River.

Revocations

The Minister did not revoke the declaration of any places or objects in 2016-17.

The State of the Register

The NT Heritage Register now has a total of 302 places and objects that have been declared as heritage places and objects since the commencement of the Heritage Conservation Act in 1991.

Under the transitional provisions of the new Heritage Act, all places and objects declared under the old Act have the same status under the new Act. A complete list of all declared places and objects as at 30 June 2017 is provided at Appendix One.

The register can be searched at nt.gov.au/heritageregister
