Question: Can we get an update of where the review is for the policy framework for Territory women, which is currently under review? Who is doing the review and what is the cost of the review?

Answer:

The Office of Women's Advancement Policy Framework was placed under review on Thursday 17 April 2014.

This is an administrative review which is being undertaken in-house to ensure the policy framework aligns with the "Framing the Future" objectives. .

There is no cost to this review and the Office of Women's Advancement website will be updated at completion of the review.
