Hi,

I'm writing as I am extremely concerned about the Territory Coordinator Bill which was introduced to the legislative assembly this week. The bill has clearly been made to give unprecedented power to the Chief Minister in regards to creating projects which are detrimental to the environment, which will not create jobs for territorians and which fail to generate tax income for Australia and the Northern Territory.

I am also extremely concerned about the authority this Bill would give to access land without permission and the lack of publications and consultation required about the decisions being made.

I sincerely hope that this bill is not passed as it does not reflect Territorians desire to live in a progressive place, where politicians and their decisions are held accountable.

Kind regards,
Jen Morillas
