Answer:

$1.8 million has been allocated to the Tiwi Island Project for 2014-15. This cost is based on estimates of fieldwork to conduct the land and water suitability assessments, which may vary slightly, depending on factors such as on-ground access

This figure includes costs for staffing and operational resources for the field survey activities, data analysis and report composition across Flora and Fauna, Land Suitability and Water Suitability teams within the Department of Land Resource Management.
