Question: For the record, how many other jurisdictions in Australia charge for the driver education books, how much money do you expect to make each year from the sale of these books, and where can you get these books in growth and non-growth towns?

Answer:
Answered On: 22/06/2011
Answer: Six other jurisdictions charge for their driver education handbooks. The cost of the Northern Territory Driver Education Handbook is $6. So far, for 2010-11, we have sold 696, bringing the revenue to $4176. The books can be downloaded free of charge on the MVR Internet and may be purchased through all MVR offices and police stations. All Driver Training and Licensing program students are provided with a handbook free of charge.
