Subject: Number of Teachers in Remote Schools 2011

From: Mr Peter Chandler to Dr Chris Burns
Education and Training

Question: 4-2
What is the number of teachers in remote schools to date in the 2011 year?

Answer: Question No 4.2 was the number of teachers in remote schools to date in 2011. The answer is, the number head count, not FTE, because some will be part-time teaching positions of teaching staff in very remote schools. As at week eight, which is Term One 2011, was 826, which includes 27 executive contract principal positions; 59 non-contract principal positions; 119 senior teacher positions; and 621 teacher positions.

It is important to note that we have included executive contract principals in that stream even though, technically, they get paid through the public service stream, but they require teacher qualifications, so we have included them for completeness.
