Petition

To the Honourable the Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly of the Northern Territory

We the undersigned respectfully showeth that the Ramingining community is united in their belief that the staff cuts to Ramingining School will have a detrimental effect on the education of its students. The citizens of Ramingining believe that reducing the number of teaching positions in remote schools will increase the gap between the academic standards of indigenous and mainstream students.

Your petitioners therefore humbly pray that the NT Government withdraw the proposed cuts to teaching positions (due to the change in staffing formulas) in Northern Territory Schools. Your petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

Response

The new teacher staffing allocation model places more emphasis on the importance of early years schooling and ensures a more equitable approach to educational delivery across all stages of schooling. While the middle years and senior stages will be impacted upon, the student teacher ratios will be comparable to those in other jurisdictions. In addition, maximum class sizes will remain at 27 students unless otherwise agreed as per the current Northern Territory Public Sector Teacher and Educator 2010 - 2013 Enterprise Agreement.

Principals have worked closely with their staff and school communities to undertake workforce planning to align staff resources with educational program delivery in their schools.

The Department of Education is currently undertaking a review of Indigenous education and will undertake additional reviews of education in middle and senior years. The outcomes of these reviews will provide the Department of Education with clear evidence for future staffing and resourcing needs for Northern Territory schools.
