How many cases are currently before the Failed Prosecution Review Panel?

Answer: The failed prosecution review panel commenced in March 2011 to review why prosecutions are unsuccessful. There are three people on the panel; the commander traffic and specialist services command, the superintendent prosecutions division, and a director of public prosecutions representative. The panel meets every six weeks. There have been two meetings held to date and there are two cases so far for the next panel in July 2011.
