Question Taken on Notice

Date: 11 June 2019
Subject: Police Responsibility for Electronic Monitoring Devices
From: Mr Terry Mills
To: Hon Nicole Manison
Agency: Northern Territory Police, Fire and Emergency Services

Number: 2-15

Question:

I would like a full breakdown on the number of electronic monitoring devices that are the responsibility of the NT Police.

Answer:

The Northern Territory Police Force (NTPF) commenced issuing Electronic Monitoring (EM) devices in July 2017.

As of June 2019, ten have been issued by NTPF: six in Darwin and four in Alice Springs.

Seven were issued for property crime related offences and three were issued for personal/domestic violence related offences.
