Question: Could you please explain the discrepancy between the section on page 49 of the annual report 2006-07, which states that the Community Justice Centre was established in 2005-06 and this was the reason why data was not available for that year, yet in response to my question originally, you gave me figures going back as far as 2004?

Answer: I am advised that the Community Justice Centre Act came into force in 2005-06. Prior to that, the Community Justice Centre was operating as a pilot program and was operating out of the Office of the Solicitor for the NT. Therefore, formal recording against performance didn't commence until the trial was complete.
