Question: Where are the 680 vacant positions located, and in what positions?

Answer:

Answered On: 18/06/2010

Answer: The Department of Education and Training has begun work to provide a comprehensive response to this question.

As this will involve working with another agency and require considerable manual input, the response will take a number of weeks.

In the important area of actual teacher vacancies, the department can report that this figure consistently remains at or below 1% of the teaching positions.
